

State commission ordered to supply records governing permit

By DAVID PIERSON

Harrison County Chancellor Frank W. Alexander overruled a general demurrer Tuesday filed by Gulfport attorney Boyce Holleman on behalf of the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWPCC) and ordered the state commission to supply the court with a record of its procedures concerning the permit granted the DuPont Company.

The MAWPCC is the defendant in a suit filed by Save the Bay, Inc., a group of landowners seeking to block DuPont's logging north of the Bay of St. Louis.

Save the Bay, which is represented by Robert Homes, charges in its suit that the state commission was prejudiced in favor of the DuPont Company when it granted the company a permit to discharge highly toxic wastes into a deep well and neutral salts into the Bay.

Holleman sought to stop the suit by filing the demurrer which stated that the chancery court does not have the jurisdiction to intervene in this matter. At an April 18 hearing, Judge Alexander heard both sides on the question of the demurrer and then instructed both attorneys to file legal briefs within ten days.

Tuesday Alexander studied the briefs, overruled the demurrer, and set 10 a.m. June 6 at the chancery courtroom in Gulfport as the time and place for the actual hearing on the suit. Holleman said Wednesday, however, that he would probably appeal the decision to the state supreme court.

In the April 18 hearing, Holleman said that the opportunity to appeal to the courts was only open to the permittee and that interested parties such as Save the Bay must first exhaust its appeal procedures through the MAWPCC administrative channels. Since Save the Bay did not exhaust its appeal procedure, Holleman said, the group had no standing in court.

Robert Homes of Save the Bay charged that interested parties also have a right to appeal to the courts and then said that Save the Bay could not go through the MAWPCC administrative and had discouraged public response.

Dolph Kellar, Oscar Peterson and Bully Zangarling; Pedro Fuente, and Chancery Court Clerk John Rutherford.

Main waters diverted

Appeal made to restore Pearl River

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

The Pearl River Basin Development District sought public support this week for an appeal to the U.S. Corps of Engineers to correct the present diversion of water from the East Pearl River marking the boundary between Louisiana and Mississippi to the West Pearl River which lies wholly inside Louisiana.

Three Hancock County governing bodies, the Board of Supervisors, the Bay St. Louis city council and the Waveland Board of Aldermen, gave their unanimous support to resolutions urging the Corps of Engineers to divert the waters of the Pearl River back to its original course making the East Pearl the main river as it was when Mississippi was granted statehood.

Norton Haas Sr., representing the Pearl River Development District, and Mansfield Downes of the South Mississippi Ecology Society appeared before the Board of Supervisors Monday to outline the plan they will present to the Corps of Engineers at a public hearing in Poycune May 14.

"We just want what we had when we became a state," said Haas. "The boundary between Louisiana and Mississippi was drawn at the East Pearl River because at that time it was the main river and Louisiana and Mississippi each had equal rights to it."

"The East Pearl is the rational location for the main water flow, but through a series of diversions we are losing 80 to 90 percent of the water to Louisiana," Haas said.

Downes reported that the Pearl River is presently being diverted at two major locations near Poycune. The first major diversion, he said, is Wilson's slough near Walkiah Bluff, an earthen dam which diverts water through Wilson's slough into the West Pearl River. The second diversion is a dam through Holmes Bayou into the West Pearl.

Haas said that at the second diversion point, near the shoals, the East Pearl is completely dry. The lower East Pearl is presently being fed by a few bayous such as the Bogie Chito and Ferris Slough.

"If we could get the Corps of Engineers to correct these two diversions," Haas said, "we could have access to a main waterway for our own industrial park and NSTL and it would open the possibilities for dredging into Lake Borgne."

Haas said Louisiana officials are opposed to a diversion of the water back into the East Pearl saying that the Pearl River is now lying in its natural bed. "If they are going to maintain that the river is now in its natural bed," he said, "then Mississippi could claim Honey Island swamp because the boundary between Louisiana and Mississippi is supposed to be the main Pearl River. But we don't want that, all we want it to re-establish the original boundary of the state."

Lott urges public support for NOO

Congressman Trent Lott has urged a strong show of support for the proposed move of some 800 employees of the Naval Oceanographic Office to the NSTL facilities in Hancock County at a public hearing at 7:30 tonight at the NSTL auditorium.

Lott has taken issue with remarks made Monday night at a similar public hearing in Suitland, Maryland, where employees of NOO expressed opposition to the move.

"I can certainly understand their reluctance to move," Lott said. "The natural reaction is to fear any kind of change like this. They are way off base, however, if their only fear is of Mississippi."

Much of the information brought out at the public hearing in Maryland had been previously outlined in an environmental impact study prepared by a Navy investigative team. The impact statement said that the new employees and local residents would experience a "culture shock" from the influx of "urban oriented" Navy employees into a basically rural area. The report cited a lack of suitable housing and an education system that is not geared to the college oriented children of the new employees as just two of the problems the new employees would face. It also said that about 80 percent of the black NOO employees would refuse to relocate because of apprehension about the treatment of minorities in Mississippi.

"They have been criticizing everything from our educational system to our location," responded Lott. "I think they have gone too far. I want them to visit Mississippi and see what we really have to offer. They certainly have no more to fear than what they have to fear right now in the Washington area."

Other local officials have urged that residents of Hancock County attend tonight's public hearing to defend the community to representatives of NOO.

"What they need to hear is not the people like me who have lived here for years and years," said Waveland Mayor John Longo, "but the people like the ones out at NSTL right now who moved here just five years ago and think it is the greatest place that they have lived in their whole life."

Supervisors study GEC fund repayment

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted Monday to return all unspent Governor's Emergency Council funds loaned to the county after Hurricane Camille. The board was notified last week in a letter from the State Bureau of Budgeting and Accounting that local officials must present a plan of repayment of the GEC loans at a meeting May 14 at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi.

Board member James Travirca said that Hancock County officials would seek a special meeting with the state officials at the May 14 meeting to determine a plan of repayment of the $675,000 loan received by the county. Under the conditions of the loan, the county is required to levy a two mill tax if the funds are not repaid by the deadline.

Board member Jerry Ladner said he would refuse to levy a tax to repay the loan. Ladner and board members, Oscar Peterson and James Travirca have favored spending the GEC funds while members Dolph Kellar and Bully Zangarling have opposed any further spending of funds.

Chancery Clerk John Rutherford warned that the state could penalize the county by withholding homestead exemptions if the two mill tax were not levied. He also reported that repayment of the GEC funds would leave the county approximately $8,500 in the red.

In other business the board voted to advertise for bids for the construction of a permanent exhibit building at Hancock County fairgrounds at a cost of $75,000. Bids are scheduled for opening at the first meeting in June.

The board approved a bid from Turan Lane for a bus for the senior citizens for $5,628.88 and took under advisement two bids for books for the city-county public library.

The board also voted to set up a voting precinct for the more than 50 registered voters in Diamondhead.

A grant of $500 was also voted for the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission's TIP program which has expanded its crime detection coverage to crimes of vandalism.

Shipyard receives EDA loan

Charles H. Hill, president of Jackson Landing Shipyard, Inc. said Wednesday that the company had received approval of a request for a $1,733,300 loan from the Economic Development Administration for expansion of its marine barge building facilities at Port Blenville Industrial Park.

The expansion of the facility will create 254 jobs in Hancock County, Hill said. The company presently employs 125 persons in its shipyard operations, Hill added.

In addition to the EDA loan, Hill said the company had secured a $1,213,310 bank loan and $173,330 in funds from the Hancock Development Corporation to add to the company's own $346,660 which it was putting up to complete the $3.4 million total construction cost.

The EDA loan is repayable in 15 years at 7½ percent annual interest.

Hill said the new construction would permit assembly line modular type construction of its steel barges used by the petroleum industry.

Work on the construction would probably get underway in approximately 45 days, Hill estimated, with completion expected in about six months. The construction work will be subcontracted, he added.

Taxing situation

Hancock County clerks, assessors and collectors recently attended the state certification training program for Municipal Clerks, Assessors, and Tax Collectors in Hattiesburg, Miss. Attending from Bay St. Louis and Waveland were, from left, Bay St. Louis finance commissioner Clarence Ladner, Waveland city clerk Barbara Rappold, and Waveland tax collector-assessor Claire Bourgeois, and instructor Mike Barnes.

Board seeks attorney general's opinion

LONG BEACH - After a series of charges and counter charges, the Long Beach board of aldermen voted Tuesday night to send a letter written by City Attorney Harold DeMetz and a copy of a motion made by Jimmy Moran to the attorney general concerning the payment of truck and travel expenses to Alderman Jimmy Savarese, the City's otherwise unpaid water and sewer commissioner.

DeMetz was instructed by a 3-2 board vote at an earlier meeting to get the legal opinion of State Attorney General A. F. Summer on the disbursements and to include in the letter that the board knew of payments when it approved the budget. Moran and Alderman Sal Guffria, however, objected, saying that they did not know of the payments.

After another 3-2 vote, with Moran and Guffria dissenting, the board voted to send both DeMetz's letter and Moran's original motion which did not say the alderman knew of the expenditure. In another matter, the city attorney was directed to get the deeds to pave a portion of O'Malley Park between Second and Third Streets.

The board also voted to pay J. M. McDaniel's rebate of the pro rata share of the taxes on a street that was not located in the correct place.

The councilman also ratified action on a 201 planning facility to hire Brown and Russell Engineers and voted to advertise for a fence adjacent to the city barn.

Finally, Jeff Fayard and Eva Spears of VFW Post and Auxiliary 3937 presented the board of aldermen with a Bicentennial rug, plaque, and two plastic trash cans to commemorate the nation's bicentennial.

Waveland police arrest suspects

Waveland police arrested two local men Tuesday evening who they believe are responsible for several recent burglaries in Waveland during the last month.

Officer Terry Holmes said police had arrested Harry Bourgeois, 19, 300 S. Toulme St., Bay St. Louis, and Paul Lombardino, 26, 942 McKinley

St., Waveland, after a search by officers at 10 p.m. Tuesday at Lombardino's home.

Holmes reported police discovered several items of stolen property including stereo equipment, television sets and air-conditioners that were identified as items missing after three recent burglaries in Waveland.

The two suspects were also charged with possession of marijuana and possession of burglary tools as well as possession of stolen property. Bond has been set at $1500 for both men, and both are presently being held in custody by the Waveland police. A hearing has been set for tonight before Judge Lucien Gex.

Officer Holmes reported police conducted the search of Lombardino's home on the basis of information from an informant. The information was received, said Holmes, as a result of an earlier arrest made Tuesday night on McKinley St. Holmes said he received the information when answering a call of an attempted shooting of Waveland resident David Fayard by Earl Couch, 23, 942 McKinley St.

Couch was placed under arrest and charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. His bond was set at $2,000.

Arresting officers in the burglary case were Terry Holmes, Robert Tartavouille, to Miss Geraldyn Mary Barrere, 20 709 View St., Waveland.

Supervisors turn down request for appeal

A move by residents of Beat One to get the Board of Supervisors to sponsor an appeal of a federal court ruling returning the county to a system of beat elections failed Monday by a vote of 2 to 3.

Mrs. Mary Caillier led the group of Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor residents who were dissatisfied by U. S. District Judge Harold Cox which decided in favor of plaintiff Harlan Dean and ordered the county to hold elections on a beat system instead of the present countywide system.

"The people are really upset about this," said Mrs. Caillier. "They don't think that the board has done enough about this suit. All of you have said that you prefer the countywide system, and we feel that most of the people of the county would like to see you appeal this case."

Board members Jerry Ladner and Bully Zengarleng agreed with Mrs. Caillier that the board should appeal the ruling. The other three board members, Oscar Peterson, Dolph Kellar and James Travira voted against the motion saying they did not feel an appeal would be successful.

"An appeal would not have any effect on the upcoming elections," said Dolph Kellar. "And although I prefer the countywide system, I do not think that this board should spend county funds on an appeal because I know what the courts have done in every case, and I don't think it would be successful."

"Public opinion will not effect a federal judge's decision on a case like this," added board attorney Sam Favre. "If it did, the courts would have changed all of the rulings in places like Boston."

Mrs. Caillier said that Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor residents may understand an appeal of the federal ruling on their own. She said that she felt a majority of Hancock County residents would support such an appeal, basing her opinion on two telephone surveys of 2700 and 1750 registered voters which Mrs. Caillier said resulted in a 74 percent majority favoring the countywide system.

Berns named new manager

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce named Captain Max Berns, a retired naval officer from Norfolk, Virginia, as chamber manager by a unanimous vote at a meeting of the Board of Directors Thursday, May 1.

Berns, who will assume chamber duties May 12, comes to Hancock County from a position as Chamber executive of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce which he has held for the past five years. While in Norfolk he managed the economic development and community development departments and also managed two chamber affiliates in cooperation with the National Alliance of Businessmen and the National Model City Program.

The new chamber manager is a member of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives and has attended the Institute of Organization Management sponsored by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce at Athens, Georgia.

"The timing is perfect for a person of both professional, military and chamber experience to assume staff leadership in Hancock County," said chamber president, Perry Gibson.

"With the entry of National Space Technology Laboratories, and the National Oceanographic Atmospheric Administration, coupled with expanding business and employment opportunities, we need related experience to carry out our program of work," Gibson said.

The Bern family resided in Bay St. Louis in 1960. Mrs. Berns is the former Virginia Ratenburg of New Orleans. Her parents, Herbert and Jean Ratenburg were Waveland residents for 25 years. The Berns children attended Christ Episcopal Day School, Bay High and St. Stanislaus.

Two car collision causes minor injury

A two car collision Monday morning involving a Waveland city car and an Aamco truck on South Beach Blvd. in Waveland resulted in only minor injuries for both drivers according to Waveland police officer, Terry Holmes. The accident occurred approximately 8:30 a.m.

The city car, driven by a member of the Waveland street crew, John Champagne, was making a left turn off South Beach Blvd. when the truck, driven by William Zimmerman hit him from the rear.

Both Champagne and Zimmerman were treated and released at Hancock General Hospital with Champagne suffering a broken shoulder and Zimmerman receiving only minor injuries.

Zimmerman was issued a ticket by Waveland police for inattention while driving.

Dogs identified incorrectly

It was incorrectly stated in an article last week about Mrs. Lillian Carver that she had received her seeing-eye dogs from the Mississippi Rehabilitation Center in Jackson. Actually, her dogs were trained at the Seeing Eye School in Morristown, New Jersey.

Eastland sponsors heritage legislation

WASHINGTON — Senator James O. Eastland sponsored legislation this week to create a center to study and preserve America's folk heritage.

"This legislation creates an American Folklife Center to promote and protect the folk culture of our nation," said Senator Eastland. "The Congress has already established agencies to insure the promotion of the arts and humanities and this action will insure that our folk culture—music, literature, crafts, and language—is developed and remembered."

According to Senator Eastland, the bill will establish an American Folklife Center as part of the Library of Congress. The Center will develop and implement a program of support for the study of American folklife.

"Last summer, Mississippi was the focus of the Smithsonian Institution's American Folklife Festival in Washington. Hundreds of Mississippians came to participate and exhibit their various folk skills. This type of exhibition is extremely effective in helping other sections of the nation understand and appreciate Mississippi and her people," said Senator Eastland.

The Center will be directed by a 13-member Board of Trustees. They will be empowered to make grants, loans and to award scholarships to individuals and groups for the encouragement and organization of research, scholarship and training in American folklife.

The Center will initiate and support live performances, festivals, exhibits and workshops related to American folklife. Also, the Center will provide television broadcasts, film and other educational materials for use by schools and other groups.

Health center warns of caller

The director of the Hancock County Health Department, Dr. Louis H. Jobe, Jr., has warned women in the area that a man who calls about pap smears and identifies himself as a doctor is not affiliated with the Health Department.

The Health Department has no doctor who makes contact with patients by telephone, Jobe said. There is no authorized person on duty on Saturday or Sunday nor is there a trailer at the Health Department.

Jobe suggests anyone receiving such a call contact the Sheriff Department immediately.

County receives bicentennial designation

Hancock County, Bay St. Louis and Waveland has been designated as a National Bicentennial Community, according to an announcement Wednesday by Bro. Pierre St. Pierre, coordinator for the Hancock County Bicentennial Committee.

Through telephone calls M. T. Swinehart, Regional Director of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration in Georgia, personally congratulated Alton A. Keller, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, as well as Mayors Warren J. Carver of Bay St. Louis and John Longo of Waveland.

When interviewed, Mayor Carver said "Our community can take justifiable pride in having been selected and we will continue to work toward our common goal - that of making our cities and our county better places in which to live."

Mayor Longo added "It is heart-warming to see the enthusiastic involvement of our community in this Bicentennial program. Qualifying for recognition on a national scope is another proof that our united community will continue its effort toward progressive and patriotic contributions."

Supervisor Keller also expressed pleasure in the community's involvement. "Not every community has received this high honor," he concluded.

Bro. Pierre said the bicentennial committee would make early plans to involve the entire community in the Bicentennial Celebration of Achievements.

Lunar eclipse can be viewed May 24

HATTIESBURG — Mississippians will have an opportunity to view the best lunar eclipse of the decade Saturday, May 24, said Dr. William E. Hughes, chairman of the physics and astronomy department at the University of Southern Mississippi.

"A lunar eclipse occurs during the time of full moon when the sun, earth and moon are in almost perfect alignment," explained Dr. Hughes. "The earth comes between the sun and the moon, casting a shadow so that the brilliance of the moon is reduced to about one percent of its normal value."

During totality, the moon will appear copper colored, brick red or dark green, dependent upon the weather, atmosphere pollution and amount of dust particles in the atmosphere, Hughes said.

"Binoculars are quite useful for viewing a lunar eclipse," added Hughes. "If a telescope is used, the lowest power eyepiece available should be employed so that the entire disk of the moon can be viewed."

The moon should begin a total eclipse at 12:04 a.m. "The first and last events, when the moon enters and leaves the outermost shadow of the earth, will go almost unnoticed by the average observer," said Dr. Hughes.

Weeks is expected to speak on the programs sponsored by the PEP committee on the Gulf Coast.

Waller predicts sales increase from recent Mid-East mission

Governor Bill Waller said today that the recent Mississippi Mid-East Trade Mission would result in short-range sales of a minimum of $200 million for Mississippi rice, poultry and eggs, beef, housing products, agricultural equipment, and other products.

"What is more important," he said, "is the fact that we opened doors and made contacts for our businessmen and farmers that will undoubtedly lead to billions in economic benefits in the years to come."

"While these countries are rich in oil and have huge cash reserves, they have to import huge quantities of basic commodities such as food, housing and housing products, agricultural equipment, technology, and a host of other consumer products," he said.

Waller said that he hoped the success of the Mississippi mission would serve as a stimulus to other states and the Federal government to take a more aggressive commercial approach to the area.

Waller said that he and the Mission participants met over 600 appointments during the 21-day effort in Kuwait, Iran and Iraq.

Governor Bill Waller praised members of the Mississippi Highway Patrol last week for success in reducing traffic deaths on Mississippi's highways.

The Governor said that, according to statistics recently made available by the National Safety Council, Mississippi ranked second in the nation in reducing traffic fatalities in the first two months of this year as compared to the same period in 1974. He said the report showed a 32 per cent reduction in Mississippi, which was surpassed only by a 46 per cent reduction in South Dakota.

W. O. Dillard, Commissioner of Public Safety, said that Mississippi experienced 67 traffic fatalities in the first two months of this year, compared to 99 during the same period a year ago.

The third in a series of child development conferences, sponsored by the Mississippi State Child Development Program, Governor's Office of Education and Training, is being held May 8 and 9 at the Universities Center, R&D Complex, in cooperation with the Mississippi State University Preschool and Early Education Resource Center. The theme of the conference is OBSERVATION. WHAT NEXT?

College credit from Jackson State University and Hinds Junior College will be given for participation in the conference. Jackson State University will give two quarter hours for a fee of $20 per hour, and Hinds Junior College will give 1.2 Continuing Education units for a fee of $10. Personnel from both of these schools will have registration tables in the lobby of the Universities Center.

Dr. Milton Baxter, Executive Director of the Governor's Office of Education and Training, will welcome the participants at the first general session. The keynote speaker will be Dr. Herbert A. Springle, Director of Learning to Learn School, Inc., Jacksonville, Florida.

The month of May will be observed as Older Americans Month in Mississippi. Governor Bill Waller has signed a proclamation urging all Mississippians to join with the Mississippi Council on Aging in honoring the State's more than a quarter million senior citizens.

The proclamation suggests that the month be set aside for recognition of Older Mississippians for the important contributions that they have made to the progress and prosperity of the State. It points out that senior citizens are a present day asset as well, and asks that appreciation be expressed to them, especially during May. Information about activities may be obtained by contacting the Area Agencies on Aging or the Planning and Development District offices. Churches, clubs, societies, and organizations are urged to plan special events and programs involving the elderly.

Mississippi sportsmen can voice their opinions on the setting of dates and regulations for hunting seasons when the State Game and Fish Commission holds public hearings in 21 cities during the month of May.

Hearings are tentatively scheduled in Brookhaven, Natchez and Woodville on May 15; in Rolling Fork, Cleveland and Clarksdale on May 16; in Meridian, Bay Springs and Hattiesburg on May 20; in Holly Springs, Houston and New Albany on May 22; in Greenwood, Hernando and Fulton on May 23; in Pascagoula, Gulfport and Corinth on May 27 and in Jackson, Kosciusko and Starkville on May 29.

A team of Game and Fish Commission biologists, commissioners and administrative personnel will be on hand at each public hearing to answer questions and record comments of concerned sportsmen. Procedures used in determining the most beneficial seasons for hunters and wildlife will be discussed, as well as those seasons and regulations set by the State Legislature.

Mississippi has become the second state in the union to focus attention on the plight of endangered and threatened species of wildlife by offering for sale a special, limited edition "endangered species" stamp.

The State Game and Fish Commission, authorized in 1974 by the Mississippi Legislature, has designed and issued 5,000 numbered stamps for the purpose of providing revenue to protect and manage threatened or endangered species and their habitat. According to Bill Turcotte, the Commission's Assistant Director in Charge of Research and Education, Colorado is the only other state to devise a similar stamp program for protection of nongame species.

The official endangered species stamp, a four-color reproduction of two Mississippi sandhill cranes in flight, is available in sheets of five for $25 or for $5 each from the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, Endangered Species, Post Office Box 451, Jackson, Mississippi 39205.

The Mississippi Council on Aging has received an additional $266,687 for the Nutrition Program for the State's elderly. This additional money will allow expansion into some areas not presently being served.

The Nutrition Program, now in its second year, provides an average of 2,400 noon meals, five days a week, to persons 60 years of age or older.

The senior citizens who participate in the program at 50 sites in 22 counties receive meals, counseling, information and referral, nutrition education, shopping assistance, and recreation provided by the Nutrition Program.

The Mississippi Council on Aging Disaster Emergency Program is in effect with the agency's mobile van on duty in the flooded Delta.

The office, van, primarily utilized for project TIME (To Inform Mississippi's Elderly) was dispatched to Rolling Fork to work with the South Delta Planning and Development District's I&R office there in transporting persons 60 and over to safety and services.

The bus provided by the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District is sponsored by the Jackson County Board of Supervisors and is normally used in a nutrition program for the elderly in Jackson County.

Horace Kerr, Executive Director of the MCOA, is conferring with the Administration on Aging and other Washington officials on funds to acquire additional buses and meal services for the flood victims. The MCOA has provided an emergency grant to assist the South Delta Area Agency on Aging with emergency operations expenses.

The Counties of Sharkey,

Issaquena, Warren, Yazoo and Humphreys are hardest hit with over 600 families displaced. About 360 senior citizens are among these.

James Brocato, Director of the Veterans Farm and Home Board, has announced that applications for home loans are now being accepted by that agency.

What's right about Mississippi?

U.S. Representative Trent Lott has hit the nail on the head we believe by calling for a full scale turnout tonight at the National Space Technology Laboratories in support of the Navy's move of its National Oceanographic Center to Mississippi.

Approximately 700 persons turned out at the first public hearing called by the Navy in Suitland, Md. to hear public opinion on the Navy's proposed relocation of the NOO from Maryland to NSTL in Hancock County. Their consolidated opinion at best cast dubious image upon the state of Mississippi.

Most of the middle class professional people employed by the oceanographic center have expressed opposition to the move on grounds ranging from cultural differences to lack of similar educational and employment opportunities in Mississippi.

The truth of the matter is that many of the arguments offered by these well meaning people are based on a great deal of public ignorance about the state of Mississippi and certainly Hancock County.

Mississippi, in contrast to being rural and backward as a great many Northerners mistakenly picture any part of the South, has undoubtedly registered more progress per year than any other state in the union. Some may say it is because the state has had so far to come. Rather we feel that the state and people of Mississippi have a deeper feeling for the traditions and unhurried way of life that this country was founded upon.

It is true that prejudice still exists in isolated cases in Mississippi. Show us any state in the United States that does not have some few that are still harboring racial prejudice. The city of Boston is certainly not immune to it as evidenced to their violent anti busing demonstrations and insults to U.S. Senator Ted Kennedy. The simple point of the matter is that the people of Mississippi do not try to couch their prejudice in veneers of liberalism. This is a conservative state. A state that is steeped in rich traditions. All change comes slow to Mississippi, but the hearts and minds of the people of Mississippi are not malicious, not evil. You will not find any state where people are more hospitable.

Mississippi has become a melting pot of people, the urbanized and the traditionalists have mingled freely with both drawing from the other. But it's high time that the people of Mississippi that want to see their state reach its fullest potential stand up and be heard.

Mississippi has a lot to offer. We would like the people who know Mississippi best to have their say - to stand up and tell the eastern press what's good and right about Mississippi.

We urge you to mas plans to attend this public meeting Thursday night at NSTL and to offer a hearty welcome to the NOO families. We want to show them how nice it can be living in Mississippi.

The Fourth Branch
Of Government

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

Presidents come and Presidents go, but the bureaucrat seems to live forever.

Most people assume that the Chief Executive runs the executive branch of government, but it just isn't so. Somewhere in all that maze of executive red tape and double talk sit thousands of seasoned bureaucrats, each one trying to run the show.

The President, if he's smart, just tries to stay out of their way. After all, everyone knows that you don't talk down to a bureaucrat.

Time after time the bureaucrat ignores not only the intent of Congress, but also directives from the President, moral considerations and human considerations. He just wants to enforce the "regulations."

He goes by the book.

The bureaucrats in Washington have their own ideas about education, transportation, occupational safety and health, environmental protection, wage grade levels, and a multitude of other programs. And the remarkable thing about it is that they "know" how to run every program in Mississippi.

You would think that they would know better than that by now. Surely someone has told them that you can't sit in an ivory tower in Washington and run everything down in Mississippi.

Somewhere along the line, someone did say, "You can't run a government solely on a business basis. Government should be human. It should have a heart."

That sounds great, really all-American. It's a shame the bureaucrat doesn't share that view.

So what can we do about this over-stuffed, overblown monster? Is there any way that government can be returned to the people?

One solution would be additional congressional oversight. Believe it or not, there are many Members of Congress who want to dismantle the bureaucracy and restructure it in the best interests of the people.

Unfortunately, a small but vocal minority in the Congress makes every effort to prevent any oversight at all. Government, in their eyes, apparently should be totally beyond the control of anyone.

They're forgetting, of course, that our government was created of, by, and for the people. Its only function should be one of service to the people.

The only other solution would be an exceptionally strong President determined to tear out the bureaucracy at its very roots.

If a President were to strike at the bureaucracy, he would be striking at a monster that provided 715,000 new jobs in the past year-while private jobs dropped 2.3 million. He would be tangling with a combined Federal, State and local payroll that now tops 15 million people, which is enough to account for $1 of every $3 in U.S. income.

When you get right down to it, we've simply grown too big for our britches. Government has become so huge that it no longer is capable of responding to the people.

That's the problem with Social Security, Welfare, or any other federal program you care to name. The human element is missing. There is no room for the human question.

We would like to express our appreciation to all individuals, merchants and students at Gulfview School and all of the staff at Gulfview School especially our principal, J. D. Penton, for all of their help and support so graciously given to help make our year a most successful one.

When our teams go on the playing field or basketball court, we are very proud of their uniforms in which they look to us just great.

We work very hard for our athletic department and with the help of the Hancock County School Board we feel that we have one of the finest athletic groups anywhere in Southern Mississippi.

Yes, it has been a lot of hard continuous work but it has been worth every effort because our students do appreciate what we have done for them. We feel they have worked harder and have done their best because they know we stand behind them every inch of the way. We rejoice with them in their victories and cry with them in their losses.

We wish our graduating eighth graders happiness and success after leaving Gulfview School and we want them to know our prayers go with them wherever they go.

We also want our remaining athletes to know we will be back next year continuing our work for them.

Again, thank you everyone, your help and cooperation has really been appreciated.

Sincerely,

Due to the high cost of food, in general, our area municipalities are having to resort to the old methods of animal extermination, by shooting into the brain, or other vital spot for instant death. They cannot afford the high or constant food bills. I presume bullets are cheaper than food. The Humane Society of course, naturally, oppose this method of killing, so, if all you people who love animals, especially dogs, will open up your hearts in active sympathy and try for adoption, we are giving these dogs away, they are gentle, friendly and healthy, of fine mixed breeds, and most of them love children.

You never know how they will reward you in some loyal way for your kindness and humane understanding. Their life line at the Animal Shelter is only five days before execution.

What in the world has happened to the Cedar Rest Cemetery? I was shocked and surprised to see the condition of it. It is so grown up with grass, it is a sight to behold. It never looked like that when Charley Schindler and a couple of others took care of it. What happened, is there no more caretakers? I think they should fine anyone who don't take care of their loved ones grave. I went to put flowers on my husband's grave. I could not get to it with all the grass. My daughter had to put them on the grave for me.

Thank you kindly,
Mrs. Edward G. Fayard, Sr

Editor, Sea Coast Echo

Many appeals have gone out through the columns of the Sea Coast Echo in the high hopes that our citizens would become more "litter conscious" and would help those in authority who are working toward a more beautiful Bay St. Louis. This is well and good, and there definitely HAS BEEN AN IMPROVEMENT.

In all fairness, I do believe we have made some false accusations in naming offenders. True some school children thoughtlessly toss from their buses discarded written work. And it's true paper containers, napkins, straws and beer cans form a trail from the several "take out food" places. Likewise some tourists and out-of-towners are guilty of littering. But our most serious offenders are DOGS. Big dogs, little dogs, pet dogs, stray dogs, pedigreed dogs and mongrels are ALL GUILTY. I know. I am an eye witness. These animals pounce over garbage and trash containers and after they have salvaged choice bits along comes the wind to scatter the refuse.

What can be done about it? Dogs are intelligent but they are also illiterate so they cannot be appealed to through the columns of your paper. In seeking a solution to this expensive and exasperating problem I consulted the book of City Ordinances found at the City Hall. Chapter 5 has a section designated as Article 11 and has a heading DOGS. This ordinance was passed in 1966 and no change has been made to up-date it since that time. In general, it is a pretty good set of rules. I doubt, however, if dog owners are aware of the ordinances. For example, did you know that it is unlawful for any person to permit a dog which is not registered and does not have a collar and tag to come in his house or on his premises?

Did you know that it is the duty of the city chief of police, or other authorized person to take up any dog which may be found running at large within the city and confine such dog in some suitable place for three (3) days thereafter and if not called for by the owner thereof within the above time, then to destroy such dog in a humane manner?

And did you know that to redeem a dog any person whose dog has been taken up as above specified shall, within the time allowed (a) shall secure such dog, upon payment of the sum of twenty-five cents (25 cents) per day, which sum shall be paid over to the poundkeeper (Ord. No. 129 S 4.5.5-9-51).

And did you know that Bay St. Louis DOGS have a leash law? I quote Sec. 5-26 "It shall be unlawful for any person owning, keeping, possessing, harboring, or maintaining a dog to allow or permit said dog to be at large upon the streets, sidewalks, alleys or public property, unless such dog is restrained by a leash, chain, rope or cord of not more than 8 feet in length, and of sufficient strength to control the action of such dog.

The following section further stipulates that female dogs in heat are not to run at large in any public place during the period of heat. (That one could be objected to on the grounds sex discrimination - but presently it's the LAW.)

The purpose of this letter is to point out to payers in Bay St. Louis that the city budget includes a clean up crew, vehicles, a dog catcher's salary and his transportation and equipment, plus dog food (apparently you could feed a dog for twenty-five cents a day in 1966).

Isn't it about time to ponder the problem? Consider the costs? Consider the litter? Consider the annoyance of barking dogs? Consider the danger of biting dogs and rabid dogs? Consider what a law suit could cost in the event a dog that bit a person was rabid? (We can't place a dollar value on pain.) Owning a dog can be a pleasure. It is also a responsibility-a shared responsibility-Bay St. Louis is OUR TOWN. Shall we work together to keep it beautiful and operate it efficiently?

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Some day, maybe a few decades from now, maybe a thousand years. New Orleans will be indicated on the map by a tiny dot, a few decaying structures surrounded by rubble and ruins of tall buildings. For Old Man River, now the heart and pulse of the world's third largest port, is going to leave us high and almost dry and take a shorter path to its haven, the great Gulf of Mexico.

Every minute of every day, as it has been doing for many hundreds of years, the Mississippi is searching, burrowing and smashing its barriers, constantly shortening its length. Like a clever wild animal seeking to escape confinement, it tries plan after plan, but blocks itself each time by deposits of silt which it cuts from its banks. Many hundreds of years ago, when the upper valley was 45 miles wide, it thought it had found an exit through the Bayou Teche country but the immense loads of silt that the river brought with it eventually threw its current to the eastward, where it tried to find a way out through Bayous Sauvage, des Familles and Terre aux Boeufs and even made a serious attempt to push southward down Bayou Lafourche. Aerial photos show that Old Man River has tried out five different courses over the centuries, each time leaving a delta-complex like the bird's-foot at the present mouth of the river.

Within modern times, great efforts have been made to make the big river obey the will of man by restraining levees and diversions. Restrained to a narrower channel, the river met this trick of man by attacking its banks with a stronger current which shoved more silt into its delta complex so that it now threatens to cut off one of its outlets into the Gulf and is making it increasingly difficult for larger ships to get into or out of it. If one of the three passages now cutting through the delta is ever completely blocked it would not be long before the other two exits would be completely silted up and the course of the river would have to change again. Then - what of New Orleans?

Fighting like an animal in its cage, caring nothing for the millions of people on its banks, the Mississippi continues its age-old struggle to break its bonds. Many observers of the river's massive efforts believe it will win despite man's best efforts and that at some future time, perhaps a decade or perhaps a century from now, Old Man River will bust through and try again the short route down the Atchafalaya from the Red River to the Gulf.

Tips For Veterans

Q - I'm a service disabled veteran who's eligible for a $25,000 grant from the Veterans Administration to buy a specially adapted home. Can this benefit be used to acquire more than one house?

A - No. The law specifies that this benefit "shall be limited in the case of any veteran to one housing unit, and necessary land therefor.

Q - A friend of mine, who was a veteran with a nonservice-connected disability, just died in a private hospital. Will the Veterans Administration pay transportation costs to his place of burial?

A - No. VA is allowed to pay these costs only if the veteran died while being treated in a VA hospital, or while being treated at VA expense.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

The Hancock County Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Committee through this column publicly endorses and approves work being done by the National Wildlife Federation in helping save our national bird. The bald eagle has been a living symbol of our country since 1782.

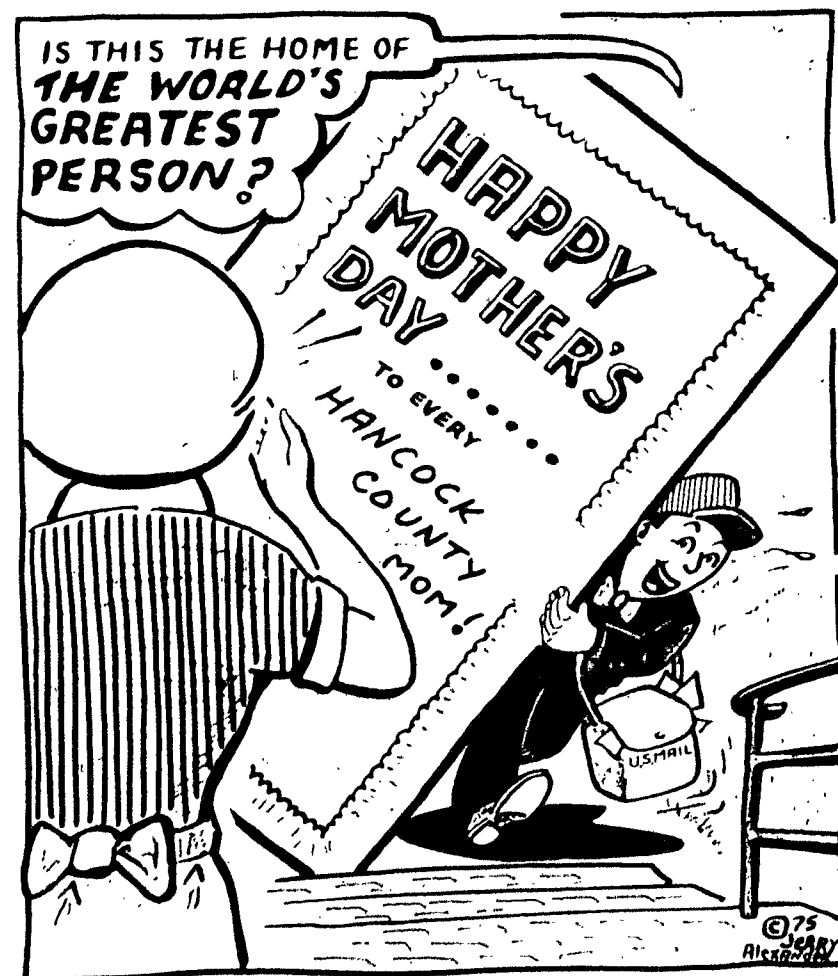

Less than 200 years ago bald eagles nested in all 49 of the mainland United States. According to the report from the federation, in 1973 only eight states were found to contain more than 25 nests, and researchers estimated only about 1,000 pairs of these great birds remained.

The National Wildlife Federation is now working to stop the decline in the population of the bald eagle by purchasing 825 acres of very special land in South Dakota to be used as a bald eagle preserve. Never before in all these years has our national bird had a refuge provided for it's protection!

For over a century the Dakota land has been the site of the largest concentration of wintering bald eagles outside of Alaska. The birds return year after year to roost in the cottonwoods, feed from the Missouri River and its flood plains. To protect the historic area the National Wildlife Federation will establish the first national bald eagle refuge. It is to be managed by the Department of the Interior as a part of the Federal Refuge System. The new eagle refuge is being financed through public donations.

We really care about our bird, and we are sending a check to Department Eagle D, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036 - we hope you'll send one, too.

SOLID OR LIQUID FERTILIZER?

It is the amount of actual plant food provided, not whether it is from liquid or solid fertilizer that makes the difference. Research has shown that there is no significant yield difference between liquid and solid fertilizers when used at the same rate and placement. Solid fertilizers are formulated using the same ingredients that are dissolved in water to formulate liquid fertilizers.

The price per pound of actual plant nutrients along with cost and convenience of handling and applying should be the deciding factors in deciding whether to use liquid or solid fertilizers.

In most cases the price factor heavily favors solid fertilizers. Here are a couple of examples:

Liquid 10-10-10 at $2.50 a gallon applied 10 gallons to the acre versus solid 13-13-13 at $130 per ton applied at 82 pounds per acre both produce the same amount of plant food. Yet the liquid cost per acre is $23.74 compared with the cost of the solid at $6.15 per acre.

With liquid 3-18-18 at $3.00 per gallon, 10 gallons to the acre versus solid 4-24-24 at $160 per ton, 88 pounds per acre.

Colonel George Nixon--a true Pearlington "blue-stocking"

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles for the Sea Coast Echo written by Joe Pilet dealing with items of historical interest in the Gulf Coast area. Copyright applied for.

In an overgrown almost forgotten part of a small cemetery in the little community of Pearlington lies a grave truly worthy of a state historical marker.

Time and the elements have all but obliterated the name of General George H. Nixon from the headstone, and the ancient bricks which form a low wall around the grave site are crumbling.

The man, however, is not forgotten and his colorful life has been recalled by such persons as S. Grady Thigpen, author of Pearl River-Highway to Glory Land, Lt. Colonel John H. Napier, III, United States Air Force, and Mrs. Roy Baxter Sr., whose home in Pearlington stands just across from the cemetery.

General Nixon died in Pearlington in the year 1824.

From the various public offices he held during his lifetime, it's evident the man was very popular, and he has been described as being "a large and fine looking man with fair complexion."

Gravesite of General George H. Nixon, half hidden in the grassy recesses of Pearlington Cemetery.

George H. Nixon was born in Virginia which led Mrs. Baxter to believe former President Richard M. Nixon was his relative. In fact a few years ago and during the time when Mrs. Baxter was active in overseeing the upkeep of the cemetery she wrote a letter to then President Nixon telling him of the grave. She also bought and sent a copy of Thigpen's book.

After quite a bit of time Mrs. Baxter received a reply from the White House. The signature was probably that of one of the persons in the stenographic pool. Receipt of the book was acknowledged along with the comment that it would be placed in the library. Whether the president ever saw the book - or whether he acknowledges relationship to General George H. Nixon - was not made known to Mrs. Baxter.

Records show that Gen. Nixon lived for a while in South Carolina and then in 1809 came to Mississippi Territory stopping for a while in Marion County and later settling in Hancock County. As a lieutenant colonel in the Mississippi Territory Militia he distinguished himself in the Creek War of 1813. He was in command of the 13th Regiment which was formed from Marion and Hancock Counties.

According to Col. Napier's research, when that war ended in 1816, General Nixon served as a Marion County delegate to the Pearl River Convention at John Ford's. The convention petitioned the United States Congress for statehood for Mississippi. The following year Nixon was elected to the first Mississippi State Legislature from Hancock County, a fact gleaned from Napier's research.

It is unclear when Nixon was promoted from Colonel to General. Thigpen refers to him as General, but Napier refers to him as Lt. Colonel and later as Colonel.

Probably General Nixon could rightly be called "Father of Pearlington". This popular and far-sighted Colonel was Pearlington's first "president", or mayor.

With the exception of Biloxi, Pearlington is thought to be the oldest town in South Mississippi. The town, of course, got its name from the River on which it was founded. Pearlington was known as a "blue-stocking" type Colonial town. Life style was lavish and homes were large and palacious.

Thigpen's records show that before the coming of the white man Indians of the Choctaw Tribe enjoyed fishing the river, creeks, and bayous of the area around Pearlington. There was fine hunting everywhere. There were many deer, bears, turkeys and also small edible animals. Many old settlers of the area still have souvenirs from the Indians in their possession. Mrs. I. F. Bennett who lives on Bouslog Street has an Indian tomahawk and flint arrow head given to her by her late husband, Captain Bennett. Although she is not sure of the exact date when Captain Bennett's crew working a dredging project in the river near the town of Napoleon brought these artifacts to surface, she believes it to be around 1950.

It's somewhere between difficult and impossible to get into Napoleon now. After the NASA acquisition of the Logtown-Gainesville land for the test-site some of the culverts crossing the road leading into Napoleon were removed.

Another grave of historic importance in Pearlington's cemetery is that of Simon Favre, a Frenchman, and the first white settler on record to have settled in the Pearlington area. Favre won the confidence of the Choctaw Indians and was selected to represent the United States government in negotiations with the Choctaws during the war with England.

Pearlington was for years the most important lumber center in the United States. Familiar names of prominent people are to be found on grave markers in the Pearlington cemetery. For those who wish to delve into the history of Hancock County, a visit to the cemetery is recommended as "highly rewarding."

In retrospect Pearlington the year 1900 had about 1,700 population. Homes, for the most part were large and beautiful after the Colonial fashion. There was a bank, good stores, a commissary 200 feet long and well stocked stores operated by such as Orr Brothers, C. K. Russ, etc. Pearlington today? A quiet and beautiful community with ancient live oak trees shading a wonderfully smooth and winding road within "spitting distance" from the River, and leading past the quaint, historic old cemetery through the village and out to a busy and bustling highway not many miles beyond!

Waveland to petition for Beach Road repair

WAVELAND - Potholes were a major subject of discussion at the Waveland Board meeting Tuesday night.

Aldermen tackled the south Beach Boulevard, which city police say have already been the cause of two accidents within the city.

Waveland Mayor John Longo and aldermen Charles Johnson, Al Grass and Herman Yarbrough agreed to inspect the damage this week and to draw up a resolution requesting the Hancock Board of Supervisors make repairs. The cause of the damage appears to be a constant flow of water from a broken pipe or overflow from a manhole said alderman Charles Johnson. Waveland police reported to the board that the damaged street had caused a Volkswagen to flip over Sunday evening. No one was injured in the incident but police officers who had inspected the accident said that it could have resulted in a fatality. The potholes had also been the cause of a less serious accident earlier in the week, police said.

In other business the aldermen accepted a bid from Frank Shuffert-Pontiac for a new police car at a cost of $4,883 minus a trade-in allowance of $1,500 on a 1973 car.

The board also approved a city brochure design submitted by Ronnie Caire of Waveland, voting to print 5,000 brochures at a cost of $256.

State aid projects up largest single month

Contracts for 29 State Aid projects estimated to cost $5.2 million are scheduled to be let during May by Boards of Supervisors in 18 Counties, representing one of the largest single monthly letting volumes in the history of the State Aid program.

In Hancock County the division of state aid project will include 8,820 miles of resurfacing on Dummy Line and Rocky Hill Roads. The bid letting is scheduled for 11 a.m. May 19 before the board of supervisors of Hancock County in Bay St. Louis.

According to an announcement made by Frank T. Moore, State Aid Engineer of the Mississippi State Highway Department, the award of these contracts will increase the total contract volume of State Aid projects let during 1975 to approximately $15.8 million. The State Aid Engineer also pointed out that the largest contract involved in the May lettings provides for the widening and overlay of 4.116 miles of Old Highway 61 north of Vicksburg in Warren County.

The projects to be let provide for 65,676 miles of grading, drainage, bridges, bituminous surfacing, bridge and embankment repair, erosion control, rip rap protection, and asphalt overlay.

State Aid projects are let by Boards of Supervisors, subject to the review and approval of the State Aid Road Division.

VA announces higher WWI compensation

Increased benefits are now available for more than half of the 425 parents of World War I veterans on VA's compensation and pension rolls.

Merlyn J. Cook, Assistant Director for VA Regional Office, said that parents of veterans who died of service-connected causes are eligible for VA assistance if their income is insufficient for reasonable maintenance. Average age of parents of World War I veterans on VA rolls is 95. More than 40 are 100 years or older.

"While great emphasis is placed on the well being of our younger veterans, the Veterans Administration is not unmindful that it also has a great obligation to its senior citizens," said Richard Roudsbush, director of the program.

The number of World War I parents receiving dependency and indemnity compensation has nearly tripled. Many of these beneficiaries also were assisted in qualifying for aid and attendance allowances, Cook said.

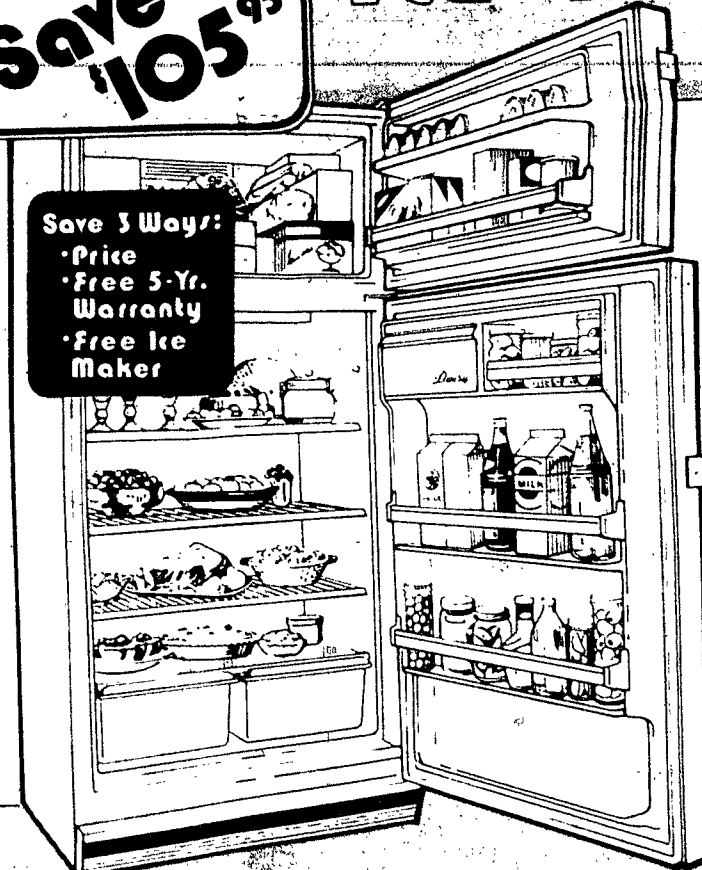

A similar outreach program has been started for the nation's surviving 1,100 veterans of the Spanish-American War, Cook said.

Hancock cafeteria funds may be unavailable

The Hancock County School Board Tuesday decided to delay using $180,000 in Governor's Emergency Council money which it had intended to use for the cafeteria at Hancock North Central until it could be determined whether or not the money could be legally spent in view of the recent order by the State Bureau of Budgeting and Accounting demanding repayment of the Camille loans.

The money was allocated to the school board by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors out of a total of $675,000 in aid received after Hurricane Camille.

"Whether or not the school board can legally spend this money depends on how they interpret it," said attorney Walter Gex.

"The money was given to the school board before the deadline for spending the money and they may interpret that as spending the money, or they may mean that the money must be actually spent."

Gex said that the school board may have to go before the Bureau of Budget and Accounting for a decision on the funds at a meeting May 14 in Biloxi. At this meeting local officials from all counties receiving the GEC funds are supposed to submit plans of repayment of the loans. County boards have been given until June 20 to begin repayment of the money.

"If we had spent that money when we first got it, I think that the loan would have been forgiven," said board member Eric Larsen.

"I just don't know what we are going to do about these kids that need that cafeteria," said board member Johnny Banks. "We have tried bond issues before, and the taxpayers don't seem to want to pay for it."

The construction of the cafeteria at Hancock North Central and the addition of four special education classes there have also been delayed pending a suit against the four board members and a fifth board member, Oris Ladner who was never seated following his election in December. Attorney Walter Gex said that the deadline for filing briefs in the suit before the three judge federal panel requested by Judge Harold Cox is May 9. Gex said, however, that the panel may not rule on the case in the near future.

"There is no limit to the time that they could take to hear the case," Gex said. "There have been cases before panels of this sort for as long as six years."

At the urging of school board members, Gex said that he would request a court order allowing the present four board members to conduct business as usual pending a decision in the case.

"If we don't get relief in the next two weeks, I will contact all of the parties involved and try to get a court order allowing the board to perform its day to day business," the attorney said.

The board did vote to replace an air-conditioning unit at Gulfview School at a cost of $650 at Tuesday's meeting by declaring the situation an emergency.

Stennis lashes farm bill veto

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Vehemently opposing the Administration view that the best thing to do about the "critical situation of the farming business is absolutely nothing," Senator John C. Stennis today expressed extreme regret that President Ford found it necessary to veto the Farm Bill.

Pointing to the fifth straight month of declining farm prices which now stand 15 percent lower than a year ago while costs are 10 percent higher, Stennis challenged Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butte's previous statements which in substance said that the farmers are doing all right and to leave the programs alone and let the free market system work things out.

Stennis indicated that agricultural loans in Mississippi are an average of 15 to 20 percent higher than a year ago, and in some cases are as much as 35 percent higher. With farmers forced to pledge their equities in land and equipment to get sufficient credit, Stennis countered, "All of this does not sound like the farmers are doing all right."

Stennis said while the Administration's argument for letting the free market work things out may sound attractive on the surface, "It is unrealistic to expect agriculture to operate as a totally free market system in the midst of an American economy that is controlled and regulated at every hand. The fuel and fertilizer the farmer uses are not 'free market' nor are the transportation systems by which he ships his products. These are but a few examples of the controlled market in which the farmer operates," Stennis said.

Officials of the U.S. Army Armament Command conferred with top level officials of National Space Technology Laboratories Wednesday in connection with a proposed artillery ammunition facility currently under study by the Army for the northern half of the NSTL installation.

Brigadier General Harold F. Hardin, the Armaments Command director for procurements and production, and other staff elements of the command received a briefing on the ongoing activities at NSTL, toured the site and visited the area where the Mac Herring, public relations director of NSTL, said that the hearing would be conducted by Navy personnel according to procedures stated in public notices of the meeting.

Herring said that NASA had removed requirements for clearances through the north and south gates so that the public would have access to the central auditorium. Security guards would be stationed at the gates to direct visitors to the auditorium and signs would be posted at main intersections, he said.

The environmental impact statement compiled by the Navy investigators is available at public libraries in Bay St. Louis, Gulfport, Poycune and Pass Christian in Mississippi and Slidell in Louisiana.

Help send our best to the 1976 Olympic Games

From the first of the modern Olympic Games in 1896, the United States has always sent a proud, young Team to compete.

It has always been our Team, an expression of our people, because thousands of Americans believed in it and gave it their financial support. It's never been a "government" Team.

At the next Olympic Games in 1976, our Olympic Team will continue to be our people-to-people representatives to the Nations of the World.

Something like 1200 men and women Olympic Team members will be involved. This requires development, selection, transportation to and from the Games. Also uniforms, housing, food, medical care.

What is needed now is financial support. USA "people" support. Dollars. That's why there is a coupon at the bottom.

If you'll fill it out and mail it back now with an Olympic contribution (tax deductible) we'll acknowledge with a distinctive "thank you" award. Do it, Mr., Mrs. and Ms. U.S.A.!

Two attend aging conference

Two area representatives of the National Council on Aging, Mrs. Eve McDonald and Mrs. Lucille Feeney, recently participated in a three-day Southern regional meeting in Charleston, S. C.

During the conference the problems and needs of America's older people were explored in sessions covering the unemployment crisis for older workers, programs for the elderly in rural areas, housing problems and nutrition, among others.

Ollie Randall, for ten years the principal consultant to the Ford Foundation's program on aging, spoke on "New Dimensions in Aging" at the opening session Sunday, April 27.

The results of a major public opinion poll on aging conducted by Lou Harris and Associates for NCOA were reviewed by NCOA Executive Director Jack Ossosky.

"An overwhelming 97 percent of the American people believe that social security payments to the elderly should automatically increase with rises in the cost of living. There is no indication that the public supports an arbitrary limitation on this increase," Ossosky said.

Other major speakers included Dr. Ellen Winston, the first U. S. Commissioner of Public Welfare (1963-67), and James Murphy, Chief Counsel for the U. S. Senate Subcommittee on Aging.

Administrators attend accountability workshop

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — An administrative workshop for school administrators will be held at the University of Southern Mississippi June 2-13, sponsored by the Department of Educational Administration and Supervision. Three hours of graduate credit may be earned or the event may be audited, said Prof. Walter Moore, director. Moore says the workshop is designed to provide an opportunity for school administrators to explore the accountability concept and to develop an understanding of what a system approach is and how it can be utilized to develop an accountability plan for individual school districts or schools.

Workshop personnel include Dr. James H. McPhail, chairman of the host department; Dr. David Stewart, Dr.

Edgar Bedenbaugh, both faculty with the sponsoring department.

A limited number will be accepted for the workshop. Complete information may be obtained from Box 56, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, Miss.

Ole Miss receives engineering grant

UNIVERSITY, Miss., - An energy service firm has given $4,000 to the Mississippi Mineral Resources Institute at Ole Miss to purchase remote sensing imagery and high altitude photography of the state.

The funds were presented to Dr. Velson Minshew, Institute director, by Harry D. Owen, executive vice president of Ergon Inc. of Jackson, on behalf of Ergon president Leslie Lampton. Owen is also a member of the Ole Miss School of Engineering.

"The contribution was made by Ergon because of our interest in the growth of the School of Engineering," Owen explained, "and it was in hopes that the photographs would provide a valuable tool for new and innovative research."

The Mississippi Mineral Resources Institute was founded by the Board of Trustees of Institutions of Higher Learning in December, 1973 to coordinate various minerals research projects in the state and to enhance the utilization of the resources in a controlled fashion.

"The use of remote sensing imagery and photography is quite a new tool which became available only in the last few years," said Dr. Minshew.

CHILDREN AND TENSION
Nervous mannerisms in children are often looked upon as nothing more than "strange habits" which a youngster will outgrow sooner or later. The truth is they are signals of emotional distress-unspoken appeals for help.

Of course, not all nervous mannerisms indicate serious emotional problems. In fact, healthy and well-adjusted children often develop manifestations related to some temporary anxiety. These usually are nothing to worry about and disappear when the disturbing situation is corrected.

But when nervous mannerisms persist or become worse, the underlying pressures and frustrations can be as damaging to a child as to an adult. This is why the tense child needs all the help that can be given to make him feel more secure, more confident, more at ease with himself.

him for even the smallest gain or achievement.

If the child is easily excited or agitated, it is best to eliminate or reduce anything that will over stimulate him - excessive noise, aimless rushing about, discussions of family difficulties and television programs or comic books that emphasize violence. Rest and sleep requirements should be constantly kept in mind, too.

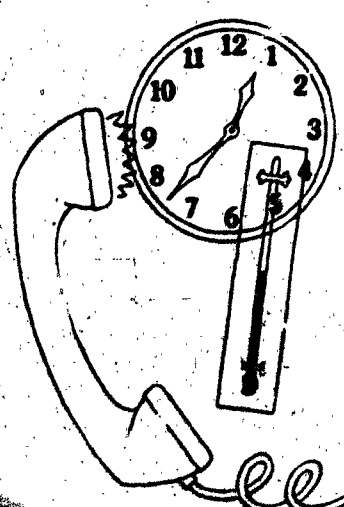

An understanding teacher can often give valuable information about a child's behavior away from home and offer suggestions to make his life easier.

It's also wise to discuss the problem with your physician. He will investigate all the factors involved and, if necessary, recommend a specialist. With such help, later and more serious difficulties may be prevented.

Pass wins South State title

Pass High's boys weathered the rain and cold to take the class A South State Track and Field title Saturday at Blair High School Stadium in Hattiesburg.

The Pirates trimmed second place Forest 30 1/2 to 29 1/2. Wilkinson County finished in third place with a total of 28, and fourth place Crystal Springs totalled 20 and would have scored higher except for dropped batons in both the 440 and 880 relays.

The Pirates' 440 relay team of Able Page, Wayne Bradley, Paul Joseph, and Deral Lang captured first place in the 440 relay title with a time of 45.2 seconds. The same four runners also placed second in the 880 run and will go to the state meet set for this Saturday at the Hardy Junior High Stadium in Jackson.

Others from Pass High who will travel to Jackson to compete are Hilton Ray, 120 high hurdles; Albert Ellis, long jump; Deral Lang, the 100 and 220 runs; and Delores Fairconnetue, baseball throw.

The Bay High 200 yard relay team of Lori Fairconnetue, Vanessa Labat, Connie Payne,

Bay High continues conference track dominance

The Bay High boys' track team continued its dominance over Gulf Coast Conference foes Monday in Ocean Springs by winning its 6th straight boys' track title. Long Beach's girls won their second straight conference title with Bay High's girls placing second. The Tigers scored 60 points and were followed by Long Beach, Harrison Central, and Ocean Springs - all of which totalled 49. Stone finished with 31.

In the girls' competition, Long Beach scored 52 points to Bay High's 44. Harrison Central was third with 34, and Ocean Springs finished with nine.

Several conference and school records were broken in the girls' competition. Vanessa Labat of Bay High won her third straight conference title in the 100-yard dash with a record time of 11.3 seconds.

Miss Labat also broke a school record in the 50-yard dash with a time of 6.0 seconds, but Long Beach's Carol Fenell won the event with a conference record time of 5.9 seconds. Carol Fenell also set a new record in the 75-yard dash with a time of 8.5 seconds, and the Long Beach girls' relay team broke the 300-yard relay record with a time of 34.9 seconds. Barbara Brown of Harrison Central also joined in on the assault on the records with a record 4-9 1/2 high jump effort.

Other Bay High cindermen who placed in the conference competition are as follows: Vernon Powell, shot put; Geoffrey Reed, discus; David Ray, for both hurdle events and the high jump; Steve Acker and Allison Favre, long jump; Arnold Fairconnetue and Keith Starita, pole vault; Wilford Parker, 100-yard dash; Louis Dunklin, mile run; Lee Morris, 220-run; and the Bay High 880-relay team.

Favre single lifts Tigers over Greyhounds

Tim Favre stroked a sixth inning single that lifted the Bay High Tigers to a 3-2 win over the Ocean Springs Greyhounds Saturday in Bay St. Louis.

It was the second time in two days that the Greyhounds had lost to a Bay St. Louis team 3-2 after taking a 2-0 lead. Stanislaus edged Ocean Springs the day before in a game played at the Rockchaw Park.

Jim Ramer scored the game's first run in the second inning when he doubled, stole third, and scored on a sacrifice fly. In the third inning, Louis Meaut doubled with one out and scored on a single by Ray Hindmark.

The Tigers scored two runs in the fourth inning when Bill Ginn doubled, and Niles Blaize singled him home. Blaize advanced to third base and scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Tim Favre.

Both Ricky Adams and Jimmy Ramer were locked in a tight pitching duel until the sixth when Ginn reached safely on an infield error, setting the stage for Favre's game-winning hit.

The Greyhounds mounted a last-ditch rally in the seventh inning when they loaded the bases on walks, but Tim Favre, pitching in relief for Adams, worked out of the trouble by retiring the last two batters on infield pop-ups.

Adams was credited with the win. He walked four and Local netters who traveled to Wingfield High School, south of Jackson to compete in the state tennis tournament Friday came home empty handed with three players being stopped in the finals.

Anne Johnson of Coast Episcopal, who finished second in District 8 B-BB, was defeated in the finals by Catherine Yelverton of St. Andrews 6-3, 6-0. OLA's girls' doubles team of Tricia Dickinson and Susan Benvenuti, who were also district runners-up, fell three points shy of their second straight tennis title when Gail Guydo and Sally Durkin of Natchez-Cathedral upended them in the finals 2-6, 6-2, 7-6. The Guydo-Durkin team won the tiebreak 5-2 to claim the state title.

OLA freshman Lis Lagarde, who won the district championship, lost in the semi-finals to the eventual winner Catherine Yelverton, and Bay High's team of Sharon Kidd and Chris Stieffel also lost in the semi-finals.

Two of Coast Episcopal's representatives in the tournament, Jamie Hans, and the girls doubles team of Holly Vegas and Katherine Johnson were eliminated in the semi-finals.

Perry and Paul Clinkscals of Coast Episcopal lost in the quarter finals, and the mixed doubles team of Theron Furr and Regina Castelin lost in the first round of play.

Jones named coach-of-the-year

Pirates slip on appeal, Rocks win 7-6

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

The St. Stanislaus Rocks showed Friday what is known as the homefield advantage. On almost any other high school baseball field, the Pass High Pirates would have won the game 8-6, but the game was played at Rockachaw Park and the Rocks won in extra innings 7-6.

Rockachaw Park is one of the few high school fields around that does not have a fence, and at least on this occasion that proved a blessing for St. Stanislaus.

The Pass High Pirates trailed 6-4 in the top of the sixth inning when Mark Jenkins stepped up to the plate with two out and crashed a long high drive to left field. Left fielder Perry Elchos took one look at the ball, turned, and started running. There was no chance of his catching the ball, his only hope was retrieving the ball in time to cut Jenkins off at the plate. Jenkins, however, raced around the bases, stumbling momentarily as he rounded second base, and easily beat the throw to the plate. The Pirates led 8-6.

But! In his haste of rounding the bases, Jenkins apparently missed second, the Rocks appealed to the umpire who called Jenkins out at second. Only two runs counted, and Jenkins' long drive that would have cleared the fence in most ballparks was ruled a long single. The score was tied 6-6.

Rock pitcher, Mike Favre, then took control of the game by retiring the last six Pirates in order and doubling home the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning.

The Pirates took a 2-0 lead in the third inning of the game when Donnie Bentz ripped a two-out, bases-loaded single. The Rocks struck for three runs in the bottom of the inning when Donnie Carr supplied his own bases-loaded single. A third run scored on the play when the ball got away from center fielder Ronnie Sizemore.

The Rocks added an unearned run in the fourth and two more in the fifth when Mike Graeber ripped another bases-loaded single. Then in the sixth, with two out and two men on base, Mike Favre walked three straight Pirates to cut the lead to 6-4. Up to the plate stepped Jenkins.

If there had been a fence, Jenkins would have trotted around the bases and would not have hurried to beat a throw.

After the grand slam incident, neither team could get a base runner until the bottom of the eighth inning when Tim Hunter walked with one out. Favre then ripped a double to centerfield scoring Hunter.

Favre was the winning pitcher, going all the way for the Rocks. He fanned seven, walked six, and allowed five hits. Myron Cook was the losing pitcher. He struck out six, walked seven, and allowed seven hits.

Pass High left five base runners to Stanislaus' ten.

Ladner's wins softball tourney

By EDWARD FAVRE
Ladner's Friendly Inn of Ansel breezed through the 12-team Bay St. Louis Meo's Softball Tournament over the weekend without a defeat.

Ladner's, which defeated Diamond Club, Trapani's and Krack Bar in early round action, downed the Poplarville All-Stars 9-7 in the finals Sunday night.

After losing its first game to Trapani's, Poplarville struggled through the losers' bracket winning five straight games before meeting Ladner's in the finals. The finals was Poplarville's fourth straight game of the evening.

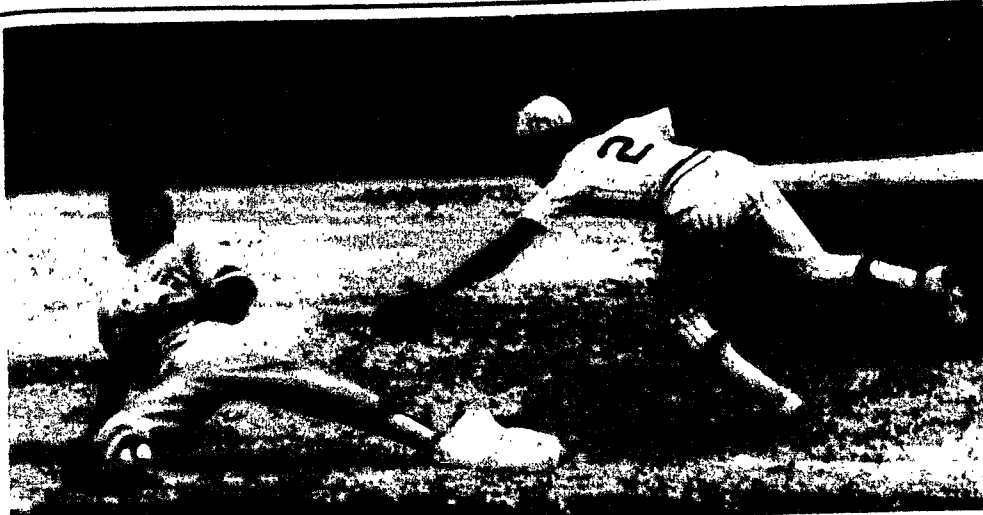

Terrell Ladner was the

Gun and Rod Club

to sponsor rodeo

The Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club will sponsor its first annual Junior Fishing Rodeo June 28. Plans are also being considered to include a senior division in the event.

Place and time for the event will be announced later.

Deceptive play

Dan Ford of Stanislaus appears to have reached third base safely under the tag of Pass High's Paul Stewart. However, Ford overslid the base and was tagged out by the alert third baseman. The Rocks still won the game 7-6.

Jaycees to stage mullet festival

The Pass Christian Jaycees have announced plans for a "Mullet Festival" to be held in conjunction with their annual fishing rodeo.

Rodeo chairman Rick Leyser said the Jaycees planned the activity because they felt that the mullet is one of the most popular fish on the Coast and until now there has been no rodeo for them.

First prize will be a $50 savings bond and a trophy. Second prize will be a $25 savings bond and a trophy, and a trophy will also be awarded to third place.

Contestants can register until noon May 24. Netters should assemble at the rodeo stage at Pass Christian Harbor. The competition will begin with the firing of the "mullet gun" at 1 p.m. and the contest will end at 5 p.m. Winners will be determined by the total weight of their catch. All fish caught will be used in a giant fish fry later that night.

The Third Annual Jaycee Fishing Rodeo is set for Memorial Day weekend, beginning May 23 and continuing through May 26. Usual rodeo features will include the regular fishing competition, midway rides, and booths sponsored by various civic groups.

Touching base

Mark Jenkins of the Pass High Pirates touches third base on his race to leg out a grand slam homer in Friday's game against St. Stanislaus. However, the umpire ruled that Jenkins missed second base and Jenkins was called out. Pass High lost the game in extra innings 7-6.

Rocks strike with lightning, 3-2

Lightning struck twice in two days at Rockachaw Park when Stanislaus pitcher Dan Ford drilled a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the last inning to lift the Rocks to a 3-2 win over the Ocean Springs Greyhounds. It was the second time in two days that the Rocks had won a game on a last inning hit by the pitcher.

Mike Favre, who the day before aided his own pitching case with a game-winning double against Pass High, scored the winning run.

The visiting Greyhounds scored the first run of the game when second baseman Tommy Walker scored an unearned run in the third inning. Walker extended the

Greyhound lead to 2-0 in the fifth inning with a solo homer. Ford, who held the Greyhounds to just four hits in the game, held Ocean Springs in check the rest of the way as the Rocks mounted their comeback.

Favre led off the Rocks' half of the sixth inning with a double and advanced to third on a ground single by Donald Carr. With two out, Perry Elchos drew a base on balls to load the bases, and Greg Anderson was hit by a pitched ball that scored the Rocks first run.

Trailing 2-1 in the bottom of the seventh, the Rocks loaded the bases with one out, and Ocean Springs' starting pitcher Louis Meaut was lifted for relief pitcher Jimmy Ramer. Ramer pitched to just one batter, Dan Ford who promptly singled in the tying and winning runs.

Ford, pitching all seven innings, received credit for the win. He struck out two and walked four. Meaut was the losing pitcher, allowing six hits as he fanned five and walked two.

The Rocks now 9-10 after failing to a 0-4 record at the start of the season have three games left on their schedule.

Bearcats end season on winning note, 12-0

The Long Beach Bearcats scored two earned runs but added another ten unearned runs to down the Bay High Tigers 12-0 Monday evening in Long Beach's final game of the season.

Taking advantage of four crucial Tiger errors, Long Beach struck for five runs in the second inning and broke the game open with seven more in the third.

Tommy McKay (6 - 3) allowed just three hits in going the distance for the Bearcats.

He struck out 13 and walked six. Adrian Favre was the losing pitcher as he worked six innings, struck out five and walked none.

The win snapped the Bearcats' five game losing streak.

Bay High (3-10) finishes its season this afternoon with a 3:30 p.m. game at the St. Stanislaus field against the Rocks.

DAN FORD

The Sea Coast Echo Player of the Week

St. Stanislaus' ace on the mound, Dan Ford, cracked a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh inning of Friday's Ocean Springs game to carry the Rocks to a 3-2 win over the Greyhounds. The hit, coupled with his four-hit pitching performance, helped raise his pitching record to 7-6 on the year.

Named Tuesday night to the

All-Pascagoula River Conference team, Ford leads all area pitchers in innings pitched (94), strikeouts (69), and owns a respectable 2.80 earned run average.

Ford lost his first five mound decisions but since then has won seven of his last nine starts and seven of his last decisions.

Bam Bam wins going away

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. — Hancock County horsemen won one of two special races Sunday at Oak Downs.

The 220-yard fourth race featured Shetland ponies and Daren Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ladner, rode his Bam Bam to victory. Bam Bam was beaten out of the starting gate by Jubilee, but caught up with his opponent in the stretch and won going away.

The other special race featured Paint horses sponsored by the Magnolia Paint Horse Club of Jackson.

Other Hancock horsemen winning last week at Oak Downs were Edward Patton with his Fighting Kid in the 400-yard 18th over Luke The Drifter and Donald Cuevas with his Miss Bay Star Bailey in the 330-yard 19th.

Two Hancock owners had their horses win last week at Jefferson Downs in Kenner. Donald Moran's Royal Wit won last Thursday and Elliott Necaise's Bahd Kid captured a race Saturday night at the thoroughbred track.

In the feature race of the day at Oak Downs, Blue Devil Deck, owned by Howard Summers and trained by Red Crowe, defeated four other top campaigners.

Van Fol Mike, owned and trained by James Watson of Bay St. Louis, ran third in the 440-yard feature race after being bumped coming out of the starting gate. It was the first loss for Van Fol Mike in

Archie Manning to work at Ole Miss Rebel Sports Camp

Off-seasons rarely exist in true form for professional athletes.

The current spring session follows that theory with added substance in the eyes of former Ole Miss quarterback Archie Manning, the starting quarterback for the New Orleans Saints.

Manning, the Rebel All-American signal caller from 1968-70, underwent knee surgery Feb. 5 and is working rapidly toward peak physical condition when the Saints open training camp this summer for the 1975 season.

Still he will return for the fourth consecutive year to the Ole Miss Sports Camp to lend football instruction to youngsters during the weeks of June 1-7 and June 8-14.

Those are the camp dates for football with the baseball camps being staged during the same two week period. Camps for golf and tennis will be held June 1-7.

Basketball follows for girls June 15-21 and for boys June 22-28 and Aug. 3-9.

Manning, acclaimed the National Football League's most accurate passer in 1974, was injured in the fourth game last fall against the Chicago Bears, never again regaining full strength.

After surgery to remove the lateral cartilage from his left knee, the Drew redhead has been laboring daily at the Saints training facility in Metairie toward complete rehabilitation.

"It was tough getting adjusted at first but I've been progressing pretty well, and feel as though I'm getting in good physical shape," explained Manning.

His weekly schedule holds for Monday thru Friday afternoon sessions. The regular routine begins at 3 p.m. and lasts past 4:30.

"I started out lifting about 10 pounds with my left leg," he said. "Now I'm up to 40 pounds. I have to lift weights with both legs though to keep the right leg built up also. I started out running for distance but now I'm able to do some cutting and that is encouraging."

Since accounting for a school-record 56 touchdowns during his three years as the Rebel quarterbacking ace, he has been the starting quarterback for the Saints since he joined the club as the No. 1 draft choice in 1971.

Manning's four year professional totals are impressive. He has completed over 51 percent of his passes, 590 of 1153 for 7016 yards with 40 touchdowns by air. On the ground, he is one of the Saints leading rushers, averaging 5.0

yards a carry with nine running TD's. One of the greatest rewards I've received from this profession is being able to work closely with young boys at camps such as the one at Ole Miss," said Manning.

"Ole Miss really puts on a fantastic camp. One reason for this is that they have super facilities. And another thing is they have a coaching staff that has fun with the youngsters throughout their week on campus and at the same time, teaches valuable pointers about the game of football." During the two weekly football camps, Manning will share the spotlight with two other professional cohorts, ex-Reb quarterback Norris Weese of Hawaii in the World

Football League and running back Tommy Thompson of the San Diego Chargers. Applicants should write for further information to the Department of Extension and Continuing Education, University, Miss., 38677.

SPORT TALK Q & A

Guess Who?
Q. You might ask... What's a fellow like me doing writing a sports quiz column?

A. There's no doubt the world is full of what are called diehard "sports fans," and we confess to being numbered among them. It seems as if questions are always coming up—about rules and records, stars and memorable sports events—questions that mean digging into the record book for the right answers, either to settle a friendly argument or just for information. We'll be coming up with those answers each week in these columns.

Q. What kinds of sports questions will you be taking on?

A. All kinds, from football to baseball, basketball to hockey. Olympic Games to Super Bowl, Masters golf to Daytona "500" stock car championship. There are always questions, and we'll try to dig up the answers, settle a few arguments, and maybe win a few new friends and customers, too. Look for us here each week.

You can expect straight answers on car performance, cost and trade-in deals when you make your move to a new FORD from our big selection. Come in... for the right answer in a better deal!

Guess Who?

KANTCHA KETCHUM
By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Kinder hard to predict the weather these days. It does what it wants, and we fishermen have to abide by it. But we fishermen know a lot about the weather ourselves. The month of May will probably straighten things out. So look for some good fishing, soft crabbing and floundering next month.

The tides will get normal and fishing will get back to its natural way. I hate to say I told you so, but see if I'm not right. Good weather conditions means good fishing.

This is a little off but the 1975 Tarpon Rodeo will be August 14, 15 and 16th at Empire, La. according to Charley Prest who attends it each year. Think he will have Mr. and Mrs. Norman Benigno as guests this year.

Plan to attend it yourself. They don't only go for tarpon. All kinds of salt water fish, speckle trout, red fish, flounders, etc. are caught at the rodeo. If you want to catch big fish this is your chance, and you won't be too far from home.

Another thing to attend is the Benefit Turkey Shoot match and Bingo sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans of Hancock County, Chapter 50 on May 31 at the VFW Hall at Kiln, Miss., 10 a.m. until?

Happy anniversary to Levena and Rusty Russ and John and Fifi Genin who were married this time last year. Each had their own party with their friends.

It is with regret that I announce the death of Chester Bourgeois on April 28th. Chester was one of our local fisherman, crabbers, etc. Sympathy is extended to his family.

Was a pleasure meeting R.C. Nettles, retired. Bob is placing a trailer on his land in Clermont Harbor and expects to start fishing soon. He is both a fresh water and salt water fisherman. Welcome to this area, Bob.

Mike "Prerogative" Friedman lives down Waveland way. He is mostly a crabber but loves to play pool. A real sport in general.

Joe Leddy is a fresh water fisherman, does salt water fishing and crabbing. Another real sport in general. Always ready to go. He also delivers meals on wheels to senior citizens in Lakeshore.

This sunny weather makes everything come out of hibernation, snakes, frogs, alligators, etc. Have seen some of each while fishing the past few days, even nutria.

Saw some of the brothers from St. Stanislaus fishing this week. They fish everywhere and catch their share of fish. Some go salt water fishing and some are mighty good with a fly rod, catching bass and perch.

Clois Dedeaux is getting his share of hard crabs. He said they are beginning to give again. Two other crabbers, Brother Perri and Horace Farr are catching them also.

Don't get around too much, too old and no transportation. Was told about some of our local black fishermen such as Peter Favre, Milton Payne, Marcelle Singleton, Russell Alexander, Coaches Willie Bradley Dorsey, Sullivan Bell and others who are real fishermen. Get me some dope and I'll try to run it.

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission received a check Friday in Baton Rouge for $150,000 federal disaster assistance funds for expenses incurred during the spring flooding of 1973. The check is an advance on a total of $411,244 approved for the commission by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

Pirates dump Long Beach, 4-2

Pirate pitcher Donnie Bentz aided his own cause last Thursday in Long Beach when he doubled home two runs in the fifth inning to pace the Pass High Pirates to a 4-2 win over the Bearcats.

Pass High's third baseman Paul Stewart started the fifth inning rally by doubling home

Myron Cook with the tying run. Mark Jenkins then walked, and with one out Bentz provided the winning blow.

Pass High scored an unearned run in the top of the first inning, but the Bearcats countered with doubles by Bruce Cuevas and Tommy McKay to tie the game. In the second inning, Pee Wee Wescovich of Long Beach singled in David Croenne to give the Bearcats a 2-1 that held until the Pirates' fifth inning outburst.

Bentz pitched all seven innings for the Pirates, striking out three, walking one, and giving up six hits.

Kevin Cuevas of Long Beach was the losing pitcher.

Tarpon Rodeo planned for summer

Gears are churning and plans are being carried out for the 27th Annual Golden Meadow International Tarpon Rodeo, being held on Independence Day Weekend, July 4, 5, and 6. Rodeo Headquarters will again be the Golden Meadow Junior High Campus.

One of the oldest and most prestigious fishing events in the United States, the Golden Meadow International Tarpon Rodeo had its humble beginnings in 1948. Since that time, it's become one of the most competitive fishing tournaments around - just ask Harris Callais of Golden Meadow whose 143 lb. 12 oz. Silver King copped first prize in last year's rodeo.

In keeping with tradition in trying to expand and improve the Rodeo, the Board of Directors voted to add another category of eligible fish in competition.

The Bowfin (Choupique) is the 39th category, more than any other State Rodeo.

Eligible Fish in this year's Rodeo are classified in 4 divisions. These fish include: BIG GAME DIVISION - Tarpon, Blue Marlin, White Marlin, Sailfish, Wahoo, Dolphin, Mako Shark, Broadbill Swordfish, Yellow Fin Tuna and Blue Fin Tuna.

SHORELINE DIVISION - King Mackerel, Spanish Mackerel, Barracuda, Jackfish, Cobia, Bonita, Bluefish, Amberjack, Red Snapper, Tripletail, Spadefish, Groupers and Black Fin Tuna.

INSIDE WATERS DIVISION - Speckle Trout, White Trout, Redfish, Drum, Sheepshead, Plounder, Croaker, Gato, Catfish, Channel Mullet and Garfish.

FRESH WATER DIVISION

- Sac-alait, Perch, Green Trout, Google-Eye, Freshwater Catfish and Bowfin (Choupique).

Entrance Fee for the Rodeo this year is $10 per person, same as last year. Entrance Prize will be a $1,000 bill.

First, second and third place trophies will be given away in each of the categories mentioned above. In addition, Outstanding Fisherman and Fishwoman Awards will be given for each of the Divisions mentioned above.

The board of directors unanimously voted to name six "Founder's Awards" in honor of the six gentlemen who started it all in 1948. They are: The Milton Egle Award for first tarpon entered; the Lester J. Plaisance Award for the largest tarpon of the rodeo; the Jack Egle Award for the largest fish third day; the John Brady, Sr. Award for the largest fish second day; the Alex Plaisance, Sr. Award for the largest fish third day; and the Clovis "Crip" Ledet Award for the Outstanding fish of the rodeo.

The Board also voted unanimously to present the "James 'Sonny' Summersgill Memorial Award" for the Outstanding Fish in the Blue Water Division.

Special Awards are also given for such things as Smallest Tarpon of the Rodeo, Best catching most Tarpon, Best catching most Billfish, and the "Goodwill Coonie Award" for the participant travelling the farthest who catches an eligible fish.

Make plans to attend the 27th Annual Golden Meadow International Tarpon Rodeo on July 4, 5, and 6... you just may win that $1,000.00 Bill.

Baseball's other 'Babe' wasn't taken seriously

By JACK MURPHY
It was Mr. Shakespeare's observation that the evil men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones. Substitute "eccentric" for "evil" and you'll have a rough description of how Floyd Caves Herman feels about his ending reputation as one of baseball's comic characters.

Like the comedian who aspires to play Hamlet, he would be pleased if mention of his name evoked respect rather than laughter. "I think all that stuff hurt me in baseball," he reasons.

"People wouldn't take me seriously."

They forget I hit .393 in my best season, that I had a career average of .324."

Herman, the unique Babe Herman, is remembered as the fellow who once arrived late for a ball game at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn where he was greeted with exciting news by the clubhouse attendant.

"Hurry and get dressed, Babe," said the attendant, "the Dodgers have three men on base."

"Oh," replied Babe, "which base?"

Thirty years have passed since Herman last made a spectacular play on a routine fly ball but, at age 72, he is still trying to correct the errors of history. On a recent evening he found himself in the company of Buzzie Bavasi, the mischievous president of the San Diego Padres.

"They talk about me being a lousy outfielder," said Babe in an aggrieved voice, "but did you know I had a better fielding average than Ty Cobb?"

Bavasi was properly sympathetic. "Babe," he said, "I'll give you credit — you were the best hitter I ever saw. I'll even agree the historians have misrepresented your fielding. I never saw you get hit on the head with a fly ball."

Pause. "But the shoulder, that's a different matter."

It was pleasant hearing such nonsense again because it supplies much of the charm of baseball. This is the most verbal of games, and it is with us again, the truest sign of spring.

But for an accident of timing, Babe Herman might have arrived in Vero Beach in a Rolls Royce driven by a uniformed chauffeur. In today's market, his batting skills would give him the means to own a railroad car or a steam yacht.

In 1919, Babe hit .381 with the Dodgers and he wasn't even the league's leading batsman. That was the year Lefty O'Doul's average bloomed to .398. Today the .300 hitter is a celebrity, a precious natural resource. In 1929, the year stockbrokers began leaping from window ledges on Wall Street, Fresno Thompson hit .325 and was asked to take a cut in salary.

Those who lived through the great depression do not recall it with nostalgia.

When Herman hit .381 in Brooklyn, he dared to ask for $25,000 the following season, an increase of $7,500. The result was a long, bitter hold out during which management characterized him as a robber baron. Finally, he signed for $19,000.

In 1930, his average rose to .393, and he approached management in a conciliatory mood.

"I don't want to go through all that hassle again," he told the club's attorney. "I don't want to be crucified in the newspapers. Give me a contract for $20,000 and I'll sign it."

Instead, the Dodgers dealt him to Cincinnati and there he was compelled to accept $18,000, including a $1,500 bonus based on attendance. "I never got the bonus," says Babe.

The affluent society of the modern athlete was a long time developing. This is a year when Catfish Hunter's freedom had a value of $3 million. In 1939, Roy Cullenbine was declared a free agent by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's first moral guardian, and the Dodgers landed him with a gaudy figure: $25,000.

Vo-tech entry competes in contest

Two students at Pearl River Junior College, Hancock County Vo-Tech Center, will compete in the State Championship Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest May 1, 1975 at Jackson, Mississippi.

John Lewis, 18, Bay St. Louis, and Conrad Howe, 18, Waveland, will represent the school in the event, said Billy Ray Blackwell, auto shop instructor.

Lewis and Howe won the right to compete after being selected as outstanding students by their instructor and then scoring high grades in a written examination through which prospective teams qualify for trouble shooting contests.

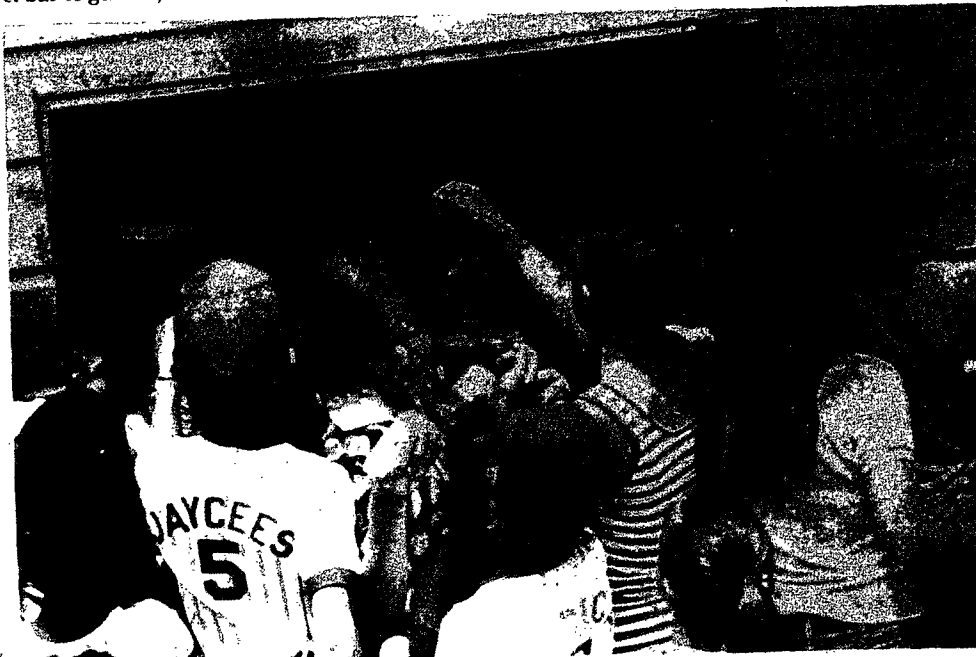

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, often called the "Olympic Games of the auto industry" will bring together the top auto mechanics students of the state in a mechanical competition.

Each year, Plymouth dealers in cooperation with more than 2,000 schools sponsor the Trouble Shooting contest to encourage mechanically talented students to continue their education and seek jobs in the automotive field.

Teams compete first on a state level, with the winners continuing on to the National Finals at Detroit June 16, 17 and 18.

Teams of two students are assigned a car in which a series of malfunctions have been deliberately placed. Teams race the clock and

Bay High Wildcats

Three Bay High graduates — Debbie Favre, Darlene Lott, and Sandra Lyons — have signed scholarships to play basketball for the Pearl River Junior College Wildcats next season. Debbie and Darlene are returning from last year's PRC squad, and Sandra played for the Bay High Tigers this past season, averaging 13 points and 11 rebounds a game. All three girls were coached in high school by Willie Bradley and signed by PRC head coach James Barnes. From left to right they are Debbie Favre, Coach James Barnes, Darlene Lott, Coach Willie Bradley, and Sandra Lyons.

Red Rebels shut out Pirates, 5-0

The Harrison Central Red Rebels scored five unearned runs to down the Pass High Pirates 5-0 Saturday afternoon in the last game of the season for the Pirates.

Taking advantage of an unfield error, Harrison Central struck for two runs in the first inning and added another three in the fifth inning when the Pirates again committed several defensive mistakes.

Ross Reyer of Harrison Central allowed the Pirates just three hits as he went the distance, fanning seven batters.

Donnie Bentz was once again the Pirates' tough-luck pitcher, not giving up an earned run, but still losing the game. He yielded four hits and was relieved in the seventh inning by Paul Stewart.

Pharmacists hold seminar

GULFPORT, Miss. — A District Seminar for area pharmacists will be held at Downtowner Motor Inn in Gulfport, May 13 as part of a program to help Mississippi pharmacists remain up-to-date on latest development in the profession.

Guest speaker at the meeting in Gulfport will be Dr. Norman J. Doornbos who will speak on marine pharmacognosy research.

Sponsoring the Seminar are the University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy, the Ole Miss Bureau of Pharmaceutical Services, and the Mississippi State Pharmaceutical Association.

Pharmacists from the five counties in District IX are expected to attend the Seminar.

Dean Wallace L. Guess of the Ole Miss School of Pharmacy described the Seminar programs as "an excellent means to the desirable end of continuing education in pharmacy." "By registering and attending a Seminar in his district, each pharmacist is taking an important step toward maintaining his store of pharmaceutical knowledge... and taking that step with a minimum amount of inconvenience," said Guess.

Counties in District IX are Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Southern Pearl River, and Stone.

The Friday meeting will feature speakers from State Departments of Public Welfare, Education, the University Medical Center, Children's Defense fund, and Mental Health-Mental Retardation.

Local baseballers selected all-conference

Four local baseball players, two from Stanislaus and two from Pass High, were selected Tuesday night to the Pascagoula River Conference all-star team.

Mike Graeber, a shortstop presently batting .365, and Dan Ford, who recently raised his mound record to 7-6 after a dismal 0-5 start, were the two Stanislaus selections.

Pass High's Mark Jenkins, who finished the season with a high .429 batting average, and Myron Cook, who batted .304 and had a 3.28 earned run average, were also named.

MR. AND MRS. NEILS SAND, JR. OF BAY ST. LOUIS ACCEPT DELIVERY OF LATE MODEL PICKUP TRUCK FROM SALES REPRESENTATIVE LELAND LADNER AT TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET.

Mr. and Mrs. Sand were interested in purchasing a late model pickup truck, so they visited Turan-Lane Chevrolet where there is always a large supply of new and used vehicles in stock. While at Turan-Lane Chevrolet they talked to sales representative Leland Ladner. Leland showed them a very clean 1972 Chevrolet pickup which they liked, and at the price they were willing to pay. Mr. and Mrs. Sand are very pleased with their pickup and would like to recommend Leland Ladner and Turan-Lane Chevrolet to everyone in the market for a new or used car.

Things are brighter on the Mississippi Coast

Have you noticed all those automobile bumper stickers and other decals around town with my picture on them and the phrase "Things are brighter on the Mississippi Coast"?

More and more every day folks are realizing the truth in that statement. Things ARE brighter here.

By now you know over 94% of our work force has a steady job.

And a look at the sand beach or the crowded hotel and restaurant parking lots give an indication of the banner year expected by our tourist industry.

One sampling of our seafood easily explains why that local industry is headed for another good year.

Ingalls Shipbuilding is the largest single private industry in the Southeast - with a steady employment of 20,000.

Of course, our largest single employer on the Coast is the US Government. The thousands of federally employed here at home have long provided stability to our economy.

And if you've been following the news you know our industrial parks are growing and report increasing interest by companies around the world.

Our diversified market has provided steady employment and a higher average consumer spendable income per household than cities like Shreveport, Panama City, Mobile, Tampa-St. Petersburg and Pensacola.

Local bank deposits have reached a new high.

Like you, our PEP Committee is proud of the growth of our area and aims at promoting those things about our local economy and way of life which have given us an advantage.

After all, you've got a right to know how well you're doing.
